

Funerals

“Dying is one of the few events in life certain to occur, yet one we are not likely to plan for. We spend more time getting ready for two weeks away from work than we do our last time on Earth” (Time Magazine Sept 2000)

Funerals are the most difficult and intimate of circumstances and a great deal of time and consideration goes into creating a eulogy that truly captures the life and substance of a dearly beloved departed one, Paul takes great pride in meeting the challenge of finding the right words of consolation and considers the role of Funeral Celebrant as a great privilege.

Funerals whilst mostly sad occasions can also be the opportunity to truly celebrate someone's life and to provide release and closure for those left behind.

Paul regularly provides services for the biggest and most successful funeral companies and has conducted services for Bowra & O'Dea, Maureen Purslowe & Associates, Leanne O'Dea, Oakwood Funerals, and Seasons in the metropolitan area, as well as William Barrett & Sons in Bunbury.

I loved doing my Uncle Mervyn's funeral and to break the tension we irreverently danced to Fred Astaire's "Don't Ask Me" at the end of it....Uncle Merv would have loved that!!.....Paul
